Cellcom – Set Up Your Phone Security

Step Up Your Phone Security

Have you ever stopped to think about how much data is stored on your smartphone? Access to your email, bank accounts, wallets, and dozens of apps that hold even more details. Between the risk of losing your device and the chance of data being exposed through malware, it's important to take a few precautions to keep your personal information safe.

- Use a passcode – this is the first line of defense if your device is lost or stolen. Whether you activate a PIN, password, pattern or biometric login (e.g. thumbprint or face scan), it's an easy step and should not be overlooked. Consider turning off auto-login for apps if using a password is an option.

- Don't be trusting – in this day and age, malicious emails, texts, phone calls and voicemails are commonplace with cybercriminals finding new avenues to reach us and our smartphones. Look at all messages with a critical eye and if it seems suspicious delete it and report it. Never click on embedded links and don't call back numbers you don't recognize.

- Keep up on your apps – while apps offer utility and entertainment, they also offer some risks if you don't stay up to date. Only download apps from trusted and reputable sources (like the App Store and Google Play) and always check permissions of an app before blindly agreeing to the terms. Regularly update your applications, as many software updates also have security patches in them. If you don't use the app any more, delete it and the account you may have created for it. Apps can be subject to their own data breaches and you want to make sure an app you used ages ago doesn't still have your personal information.

- Back-up your device – we've said it before and we'll say it again, backing up your device can save a lot of heartache if your phone is lost or remotely locked by ransomware. Visit cellcom.com/backup for your phone back up options.

Stay tuned to Cellcom on social media for more tips and tricks when it comes to using (and staying safe) on your smartphone!

Kerber Rose – Effects of the Tax Law On Life Events

Change is part of life. The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (TCJA) has brought sweeping changes to the federal income tax rules for individuals. But how will you and your family be affected? That depends on your specific circumstances. Major life changes — from marriage and birth to divorce and death — can provide opportunities and pitfalls under the tax law. Here's an overview of some TCJA provisions that may be relevant during different life events.

Marriage

Your marital status for the 2018 tax year will depend on whether you're married on December 31, 2018. Some marriage penalties and bonuses remain under the TCJA. If you plan to tie the knot in 2018, it's important to determine your marginal tax rate as a married couple. If both spouses work, for example, it may be necessary to adjust your current withholding.

You'll also need to consider health care implications associated with tying the knot, such as potential exposure to the individual mandate penalty. That penalty is still in effect for 2018, although it goes off the books in 2019 under the TCJA.

New Child

If a new child joins your household in 2018 — through birth, adoption or marriage — you'll be disappointed to learn that the dependency deduction has been eliminated for 2018 through 2025. But the expanded child tax credit could help make up the difference.

The child tax credit increased from $1,000 to $2,000 per qualifying child for tax years starting in 2018. In addition, increased phaseout thresholds of $400,000 for married individuals who file jointly and $200,000 for all other taxpayers (not indexed for inflation) will allow many more people to claim the credit.

Unfortunately, dependents who are age 17 and older won't be eligible for the $2,000 credit. But they may be eligible for the new $500 credit for dependents who aren't qualifying children. There have also been changes to rules regarding Section 529 qualified tuition plans and the kiddie tax rules that may provide tax savings opportunities for parents.

Divorce

If you're currently divorced or in the process of getting divorced, there's an important change to the tax rules for alimony payments to be aware of. For payments required under post-2018 divorce agreements, alimony payments aren't deductible, and they aren't considered income to the recipient.

However, pre-TCJA rules continue to apply to payments required by divorce agreements that are executed in 2018 or earlier.

For individuals who will be making alimony payments, this change creates a big tax incentive to finalize divorces before year end. For individuals who will be receiving payments, the change creates a big incentive to delay settlements until 2019.

Want to modify an existing agreement? The TCJA allows taxpayers to modify existing divorce decrees to expressly adopt the TCJA rules. This may be appropriate, for example, if the expected income levels and tax rates of the alimony payer or recipient have changed.

The alimony provision of the TCJA also affects prenuptial agreements that stipulate alimony payments. Existing agreements that stipulate alimony payments based on pre-TCJA rules may overcompensate alimony recipients. So it's worth considering updating any existing agreements based on the new law. Likewise, if you're planning to sign a prenuptial agreement before getting married in 2018 or beyond, it's important to factor in the tax treatment of alimony payments under the TCJA.

New Home

Interest deductions for new home acquisition debt is subject to the new $750,000 debt limit ($375,000 if married filing separately). For home equity loans, deductibility may depend on what you used the proceeds for. Interest paid on home equity loans and lines of credit may be deductible if the funds are used to buy, build or substantially improve the home that secures the loan, as long as the total home acquisition debt (including home equity loans treated as acquisition debt) is within the allowable limit.

If you moved at least 50 miles for work in 2018, you might expect a tax deduction or a tax-free moving (because they were available in the past). Unfortunately, the TCJA suspends those tax breaks for most taxpayers from 2018 through 2025.

That is, the above-the-line deduction on Form 1040 isn't available for tax years starting in 2018. And moving expenses reimbursed or paid by an employer during the suspension period must be

Rotary's Volunteer of the Year

Kellie Zahn (left) was awarded this year's Rotary Volunteer of the Year honor because of her initiative to provide meals for dozens of area farmers hard hit by the record setting blizzard this past April.

Area farmers were left struggling with collapsed barn roofs and dead and injured animals due to 30 inches of snow. Zahn had taken an idea and turned it into reality by recruiting dozens of volunteers and thousands of dollars in cash and food donations.

Prepared meals were delivered to over 30 area farms. Thousands of dollars was divided among 10 area fire departments to reward them for all the hard work they invested in removing countless tons of snow from structures to make them safe.

Her small act of kindness made a big difference by letting these folks know that they had friends that cared.

The award was presented by Rotarian Sue Aschliman.

Pig n' Polka Picnic

The men of Zion & St. Peter Lutheran Congregations of Embarrass and Pella Opening will again be hosting their Pig n' Polka Picnic on August 12, 2018. Festivities begin at 11:00am at the Embarrass Fireman's Park, and the polka music will run until 4:00pm.

Teams of men "pig sit" a full pig as it roasts overnight. In the morning it is then carved and will be served with cheesy potatoes, rolls, and coleslaw. (Hey, the men are putting on this event and they want to make it as simple as possible.) Table service and beverages will also be provided for the meal.

Truck Town Polka Sounds will be providing the music for the afternoon.

A free will offering will be collected, and the proceeds will go to Camp Luther, to be used for the "Every Kid to Camp" fund.

Death

Exposure to the federal estate tax is lower for people who die in 2018 through 2025 than under prior law. Under the TCJA, the base estate and gift tax exemption amount has been increased to $10 million. The $10 million amount is indexed for inflation occurring after 2011 and is $11.18 million for 2018 ($22.36 million per married couple). However, state death taxes, if applicable, may still apply, typically at lower exemption amounts.

The increased estate and gift tax exemption will also provide estate planning opportunities for high net worth individuals. And it may eliminate the need for complicated estate plans for individuals or married couples with net worth less than the exemption limits.

Start Planning Now

Tax-savvy individuals meet with their tax advisors at least annually to strategize on ways to save taxes. Midyear tax planning meetings are especially important in 2018, given the sweeping changes and potential opportunities to lower your taxes under the new tax law. The IRS is expected to issue additional guidance this fall to clarify many of the changes. Contact a tax professional to understand how the new law affects you.

Caring For Senegalese & Somali Women Inspired Amanda Bernath, MD

New Shawano Doctor Practices Full Spectrum Family Medicine

Amanda Bernath, MD, of ThedaCare Physicians-Shawano, is profoundly shaped by her early experience as a Peace Corps volunteer in the West African country of Senegal. As a recent college graduate, she worked in remote communities for two years to care for pregnant mothers and young children and educate families about issues related to malaria and nutrition. "I came away with a great appreciation for grass roots intervention, the seemingly small ways that can have a big impact on helping people lead healthier lives," Dr. Bernath said. "I feel I really honed my skills in assessing the needs of a village or population."

The Brookfield native is rooted in a family of care providers having grown up with a physical-therapist father, healthcare-administrator mother, and a sister who went on to become a registered nurse. "I look across my family and see a lot of RNs and teachers. As far back as I can remember, I knew I wanted to be a doctor." Dr. Bernath earned her undergraduate degree from the University of Wisconsin in biochemistry and her medical degree from the Michigan State University College of Human Medicine. During her third and fourth years of medical school, she studied in Marquette, Michigan, to pursue her special interest in rural medicine.

Dr. Bernath completed her residency within the Medical College of Wisconsin in Milwaukee where she spearheaded prenatal outreach program for for Somali immigrant women in the metropolitan area. It was a heartening opportunity to reconnect with a community that shared many characteristics of the families she came to know in Senegal. "These women have very different beliefs and ideas about pregnancy and medicine in general. The learning went both ways," she said. Dr. Bernath's outreach to the Somali women earned her the 2017 Department of Family and Community Medicine Community Partnership Award granted by the Medical College of Wisconsin.

Dr. Bernath and her husband Dan moved to Shawano last fall where she began work at ThedaCare Physicians-Shawano as a full-spectrum family practice doctor, a position where she cares for pregnant women and helps deliver babies in addition to customary family practice responsibilities. As a hospitalist, too, she occasionally supervises the care of inpatients at the adjacent ThedaCare Medical Center-Shawano. The variety of Dr. Bernath's days in Shawano is complemented by a time-share agreement that affords her the flexibility to travel and practice international medicine in the future.

Dr. Bernath and her husband have two young daughters Adeline and Emily, ages 3 and 1.

They bought a home in Shawano that requires just a quick three-minute commute to the clinic and hospital. While Dr. Bernath's travel schedule is light these days, she still enjoys hikes with her family and the dogs or a good game of dress-up with her little girls. "I am learning about our community and finding ways to help people lead healthier lives."

Clintonville Quarterback Club

Supporting Clintonville Trucker Football

Greetings from Clintonville Quarterback Club,

The CHS football team, coaches and Quarter Back Club have started gearing up for an exciting fall football season. Our player numbers are increasing with 80+ boys signed up already and the largest senior group in many years. Having the last 2 games from the previous season be wins, we have a lot of enthusiasm going into this coming year.

As many of you may know, the QB Club is responsible for organizing many activities both at the CHS Stadium and throughout the community. A popular one is the 5th Quarter which brings players, fans and the community together after the Varsity home football games. This year we will have the opportunity to host 4 of these events.

We will also be recognizing the '78 football team for the 40th anniversary of their state win.

We are seeking a donation from Clintonville and surrounding businesses to put toward this years scheduled 5th Quarters which will again be held at Memory Lanes (formerly Clintonville Lanes). The Lanes have been great to work with and offer the players, students and fans great deals on those given Friday nights after the home games. For whatever donations you are able to make toward these events, we will have a recognition board visible at the Lanes as well as publishing your business on the football programs and also announced at the games. There is always food and drink for the kids and specials for the adults. 2 free games of bowling are provided per person during the 5th Quarter. It is a fun way to celebrate being a Trucker!!! We invite you to attend as many games as you can this season and also the 5th Quarter at Memory Lanes.

Thank you so much for the continued support of our sports programs in Clintonville! Please send donations to address below payable to Clintonville Quarterback Club.

Thanks,
 Kerry Danley
 {Quarterback Club President}

PUBLIC INFORMATION MEETING NOTICE

“Unplug and Connect with Parks!”

City of Clintonville Community Center –
30 S. Main St., Clintonville, WI 54929

Monday, August 6, 2018
5:45 P.M. – 7:30 P.M.

Information about the planning process. Displays and feedback opportunities will be made available. We need your opinion! If you don't tell us we don't know!

The City of Clintonville, with the support from the East Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, have begun to update their 5-year Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan (CORP), 2019-2023

Beginning in June 2018, the City kicked off an 8-9 month planning process to complete the update to the CORP. This process will include a comprehensive examination of the park and recreation facilities while identifying recommendations for improving the system and its services over the next five years and beyond.

In addition to, public input opportunities have been made available throughout the planning process and mechanisms for public involvement identified. One of those mechanisms was a survey of the parks and recreation facilities offered over the summer, the second is this open house to involve residents in the needs assessment, and finally the third will be a public hearing held prior to the formal adoption of the plan which is anticipated for the fall of 2018.

We invite you to express your opinions and ideas on what is needed in terms of Parks and Recreation for Clintonville. Please join us for this important meeting.
